Step 1: With the diamond cord make a four strand double cow's hitch. See our tutorial for instructions.

Step 2: Insert the red and navy cords through the knots at the working end with equal length on each side.

Step 3: Bring the right red cord behind the two right core strands then up through the middle of the bracelet and over the two left core strands.

Step 4: Wrap the red cord around the far left strand and bring the end up between the two left strands and above itself as shown. Pull snug.
Step 5: Bring the same red cord down between the two left strands as shown.

Step 6: Wrap the red cord up around the far left strand and insert it under itself. Pull snug.

Step 7: Repeat steps 3 through 6 with the left red cord going on the right side of the bracelet. Allow the red cords to cross the opposite direction as they crossed before.

Step 8: Bring the left diamond cord behind the bracelet and insert it up between the two right strands and between the first two red knots.

Step 9: Bring the right diamond cord behind the bracelet and insert it up between the two left strands and the first two red knots.
Continue repeating steps 8 and 9 until you reach the end each time wrapping the cord around the outside of the bracelet as shown and pulling snug between each knot.

Step 10: Insert the right navy cord up between the two right core strands and in the middle of the first red knot on the right.

Step 11: Insert the same cord down between the two left core strands and the middle of the first red knot on the left.

Step 13: Insert the same cord down between the two right core strands and the middle of the red knot on the right. Try to lay them next to each other.

Continue repeating steps 10 through 13 until the end. Then, insert all cords through to the back of the bracelet.
