Step 1: With the camo cord, make a four strand double cow's hitch.
See our tutorial for instructions.

Step 2: Insert the orange cord through the knots on the working end side with equal length on each side.

Step 3: Bring the left camo cord A under the left two strands and over the right two strands. Bring side B under the right two strands and over the left two strands.

Step 4: Wrap cord A around cord B and the two right strands, then insert it down between the two right strands as shown.

If using a 550 paracord fid, melt the end of your 275 well and press it against a metal surface to flatten it. This will make it wide enough to hold inside the fid.

Insert the lacing needle down between the two right strands above the hitch knot and pull the cord through.

Continue down the length of the bracelet each time inserting the needle down and at a downward angle so the needle is below the next camo cord in the back.

Once you reach the end on both sides of the bracelet, trim and melt all the ends.
